

Spoken English

How to Describe your Phone and its Features?

Created: Tuesday, 30 July 2013 10:29 | Published: Tuesday, 30 July 2013 10:09 | Written by Monika Agarwal | Print

Nowadays, we all depend on our cell phones for everything. From making phone calls to using it for acquiring complex information and mobile applications, it has become something that people feel handicapped without. Just imagine leaving your cell phone back at home for one day... Okay! Let's spare you the horror of even imagining something that dreadful and move on to the exercise.

Talk artistically:

Your cell phone is the undefeatable winner when it comes to choosing between your gadgets assortment, yet having to describe it in well-spoken English does get a little tricky! Let's take a look at an example that you could use as a reference to describe your beloved cell phone in the utmost artistic way possible.

"I'm currently using an Apple iPhone 4S which is a 'smart phone' to say the least. Unlike other cell phones, the 4S functions on a micro SIM. It has an internal memory of 32 GB and exhibits camera clarity of 8 Megapixels. The operating system it functions on is iOS 5, which is upgradable to iOS 6.1.4 as well. My phone is updated with the latest applications, videos, and movies that hold my interest. It also has a number of instant messaging and social networking sites that keeps me occupied and amused throughout the day. Many a times I use it to make Skype calls to my sister in the U.S. I'm also a game geek and so my phone has an entire bank of games that one could choose from. Lastly, I would like to mention that I share a close relationship with my phone and feel incomplete without it."

Talk Fluently:

To describe a tangible product to someone is an art form that requires to be learned. It is important that your flow of description is accurate and as far as possible try to speak in English fluently so that you manage to sweep them off their feet with your new and developed English communication skills.

Don't get too detailed!

Avoid getting too detailed especially in the case of describing the phone's specifications, try and keep it crisp and short! Talk only about the generic specifications and keep it to that only. Describe the lighter features of your phone that would make your description appealing and engaging rather than dull and boring.

While describing something, always speak with poise and excitement but remember to mind your English grammar from going haywire. English speaking isn't that difficult once you put your mind to it, keep practicing and soon you will improve your spoken English skills in barely any time.

About eAgeTutor:

eAgeTutor.com is a premier online English learning institute. eAge's world class faculty and ace communication experts, from around the globe, help you to improve in an all-round manner. Assignments and tasks based well researched content developed by subject matter and industry experts can certainly fetch the most desired results for improving spoken English skills. In this age of effective and advance communication technology, spoken English online programs are the most effective and convenient way to learn English.

For further information on our online English speaking courses or to experience the wonders of the virtual classroom, fix a demonstration session with our tutor.

- By Monika Agarwal

Related Topics:

- How to best describe a place?
- How to structure English sentences?
- Do's and Don'ts of Public Speaking
- English Exercise for Beginners
- How to Overcome the Anxiety of Making Mistakes when Speaking English?

Category:ROOT /Spoken English

Joomla SEF URLs by Artio